Things That Last. . .

One of the oldest high schools in the state, Astoria High has a rich heritage. Since the first graduation in 1893, each succeeding class has inherited the legacy of education, not just in classrooms, but in outside activities as well. In 1896 the first Zephyrus was published to record the activities of each year. Student Council, the official governing body of AHS, also came into existence in 1896, but the Associated Student Body of Astoria High School wasn't organized until 1905.

In 1911 classes were moved from the crowded McClure Building to an imposing structure "far above Columbia's waters." Eventually, when the buildings became inadequate, plans were begun for a new school, which was completed in 1957. Astoria High's newspaper was first named the Astor Post in 1927.

In 1930 the Fishermen won their first state basketball championship, setting a precedent for future Astoria teams.

Many years classes graduated both in January and May. In 1951 freshmen were included in the high school.

Homecoming was introduced to AHS in 1953 and since has become one of the most important activities of the school year.

Throughout the years, Astoria High School students have given their lives to preserve their heritage of freedom. This year Alan Barnett became the first from Astoria High School to die in the war in Vietnam. We hope he will be the last.

... a heritage of freedom,
the courage of youthful idealism
in the face of reality . . .

... an appetite for life that finds . . .

. . . release in a carefree moment between classes . . .

... a constant quest for knowledge that leads down unexplored paths . . .

... to open new worlds,
a caring . . .

... for companionship with schoolmates . . .

... for the honor of the school.

The here and now that lasts forever
in old grads' hearts.

Cherished Traditions of Astoria High

Alma Mater

Far above Columbia's waters,
With its waves of blue,
Stands our noble Alma Mater,
Glorious to view.

(CHORUS)

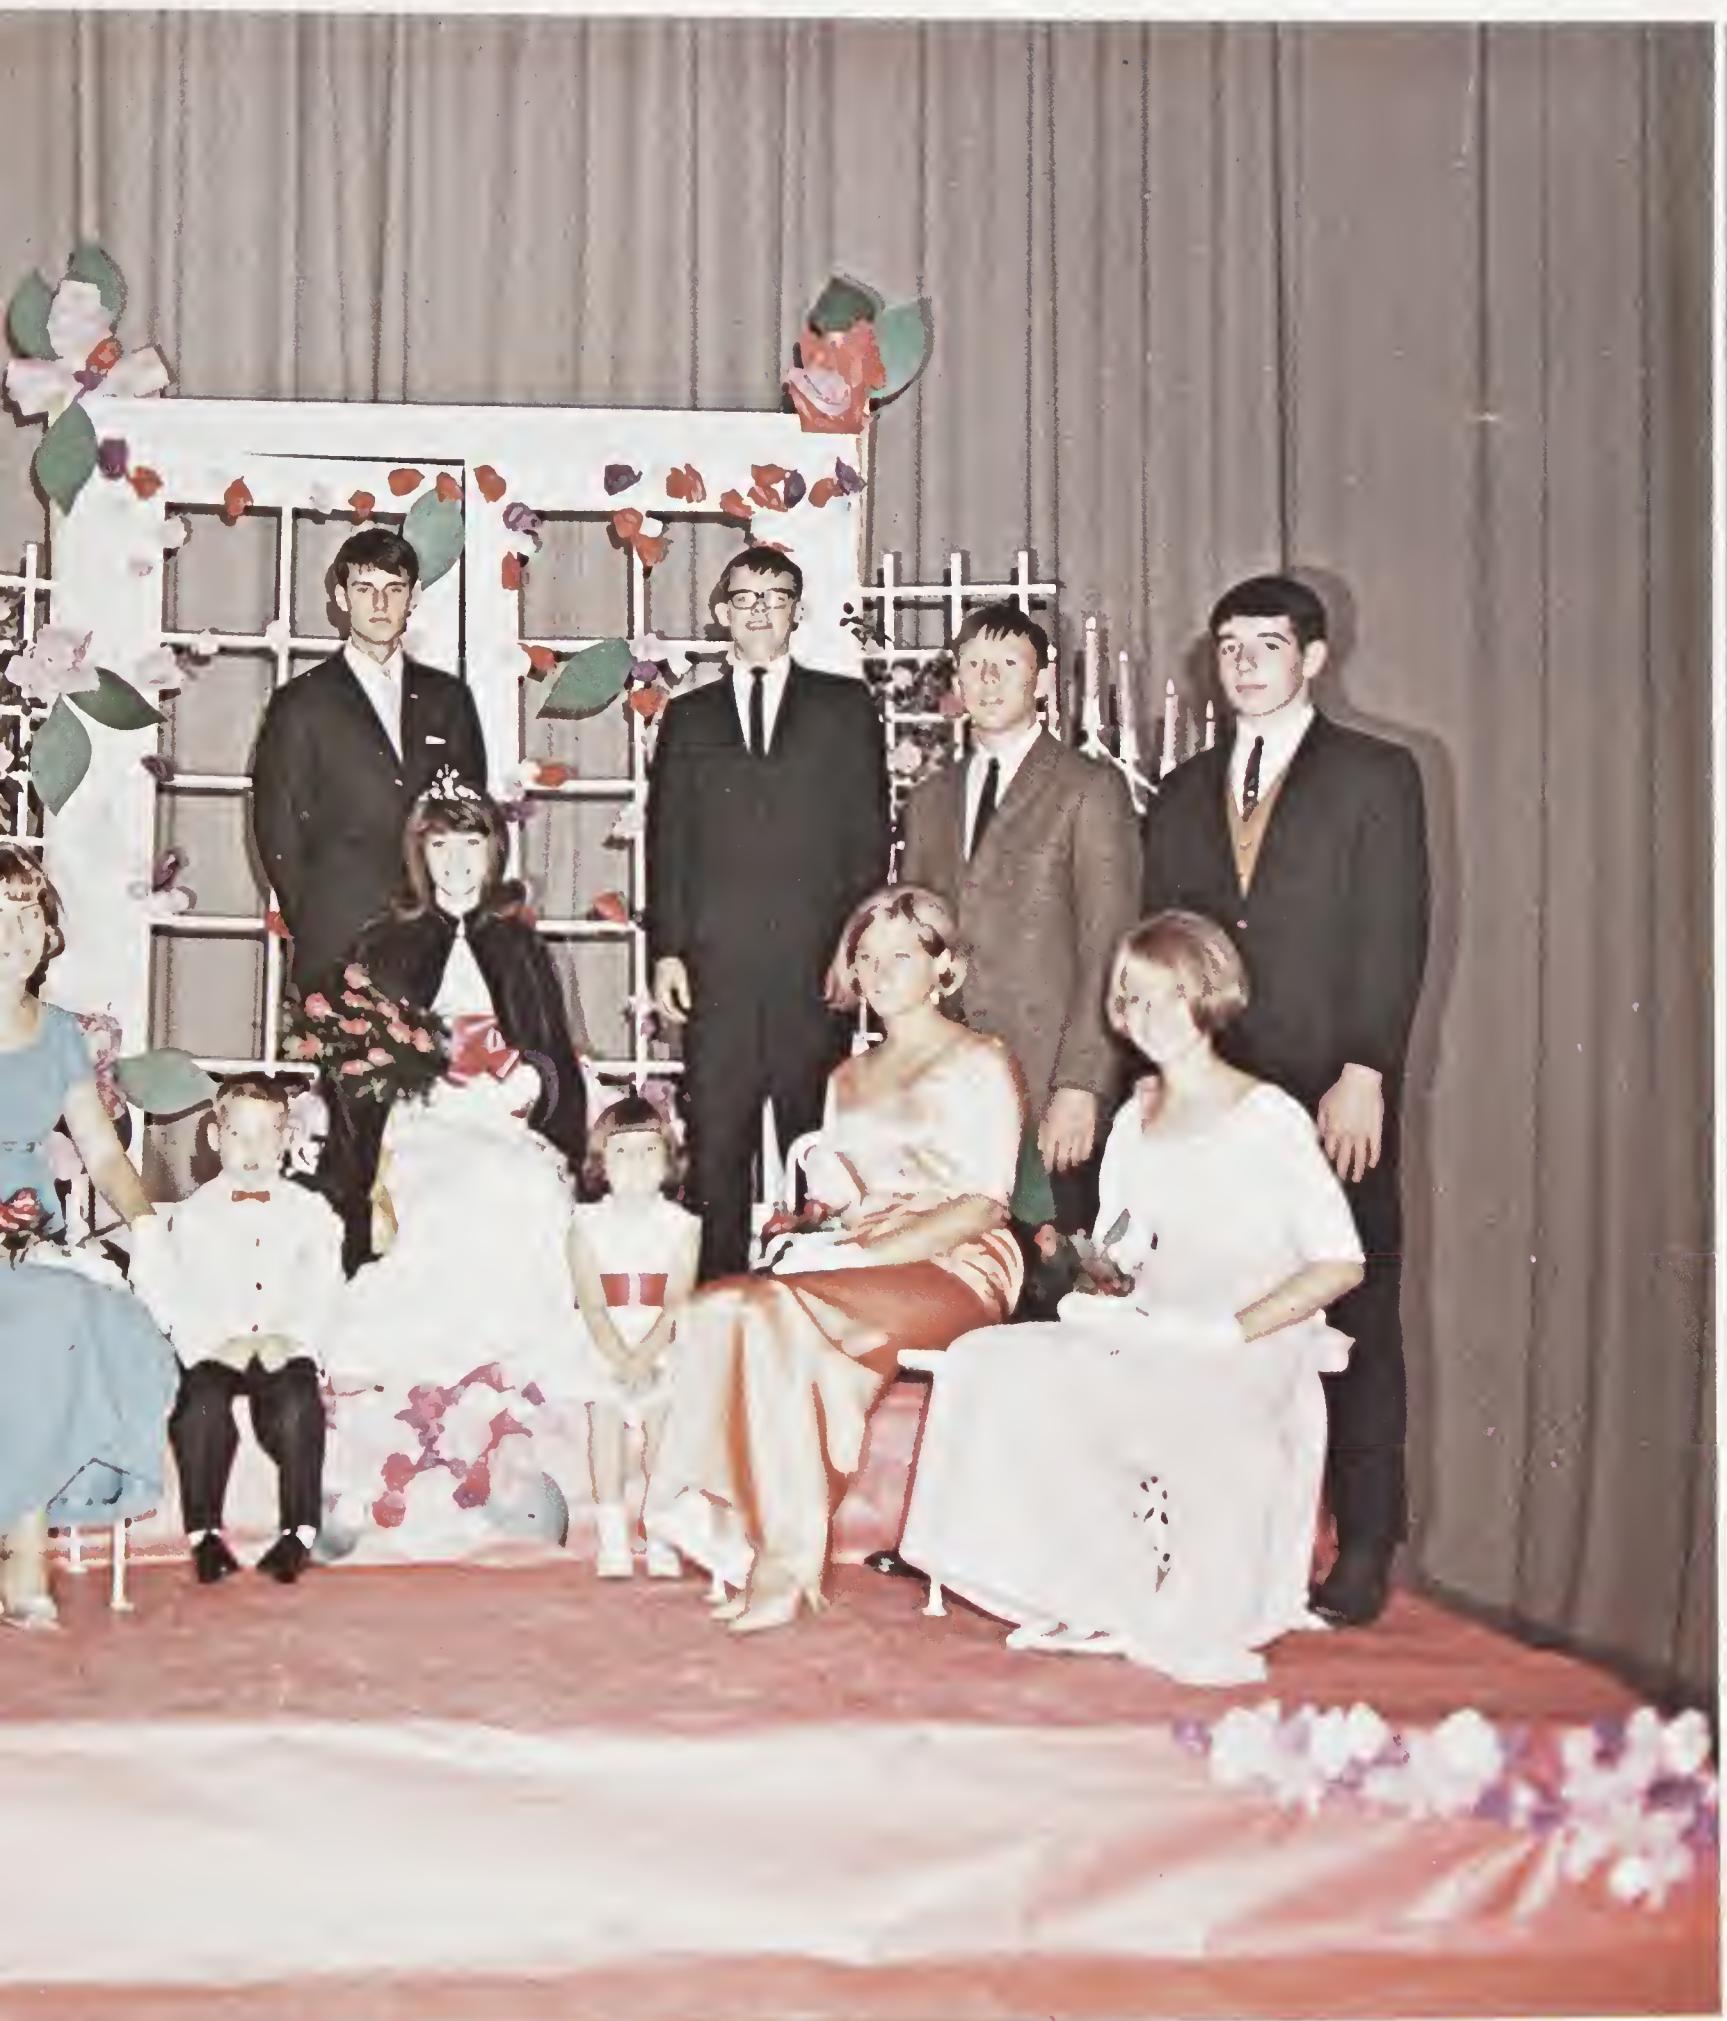

Lift the chorus, speed it onward,
Praise her to the sky.
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail Astoria High!

Side by side we stand together,
High her banners hold,
Rearing high in pride and glory
Purple and the Gold.

Lovely Queen Linda, surrounded by her court, rules over the 1965 Homecoming festivities.

School . . . "Things That Last"

THE SCHOOL DAY, with the stress on the importance of education,

not only for the knowledge it brings, but because it helps to provide a purpose in life, is becoming increasingly challenging to students.

Ninety per cent of a student's time is spent in the classroom. This important, serious, and sometimes wearisome aspect of school life has, too, its light-hearted moments. All these are reflected in the last anxious moments spent studying for a test — and the relief of learning it's been postponed . . . a teacher's exasperation over those same two boys whispering in the back row . . . the last startling SLAM of lockers as students hurry to class after the bell has rung . . . the teachers' coffee klatch in the library office during the break . . . staying after the assembly to question a guest speaker . . . "discussions" of current events in social science classes . . . band members spending the day practicing with a guest conductor . . . and those important aptitude tests and college visitations for college-bound seniors.

Administrators Direct School

Personal Satisfaction Gained From Helping Students

Dean of Boys Advocates Three-Year High School

As usual Mr. Douglas Clark, vice-principal, is well occupied with his many responsibilities. He is both Dean of Boys and Athletic Director. Mr. Clark also handles attendance, discipline and the ordering and distribution of textbooks.

Mr. Clark is well qualified for his numerous duties with Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degrees from Oregon State University, and from his eleven years of experience at Astoria High.

He is an avid golfer when he finds the time and also enjoys hunting.

Mr. Clark states that it seems different this year without the freshmen, and he believes that this is a beneficial change in the high school.

Mr. Bob Parnell, who has been principal of Astoria High School for five years, says that he chose education for a career because he gains personal satisfaction from helping students develop, and enjoys working with both students and teachers. Mr. Parnell received his bachelor's and master's degrees in the field of education from Central Washington State.

During the holidays and after school is out, Mr. Parnell, his wife Ruth, and two children, Brian and Paula, go to their summer home near Arch Cape for relaxation. Mr. Parnell also enjoys golfing, fishing, and hunting in his spare time.

Policies

The District 1C school board, made up of businessmen from the area, tries to give Astoria the best possible school system. The board members serve a five-year term during which each gives much time and hard work.

Serving as a link between the board and the administration, Mr. Roy Seeborg, superintendent of schools, is responsible for school affairs. These include budget construction, hiring personnel, school policies, and building projects, for which he is accountable to the school board. He is helped by Administrative Assistant, Ronald Trenholm, who holds this newly created position for the first time.

Mr. Roy Seeborg, who has been Astoria school supervisor for four years, often takes time off from his business duties to attend sports events at his Alma Mater, Astoria High.

Faculty Members Guide Students To

"Yes," says Miss Marjorie Halderman, head librarian, library methods instructor, and Library Club adviser, "I feel that the importance of school libraries is being recognized more each year."

Miss Halderman, pictured here at the check-out desk, has a busy schedule supervising library assistants, keeping order in the library, coming to the aid of students needing report material and co-operating with teachers when ordering books.

"Counselors gain as much from the interpersonal relations as the student does," says Anna Marie Friedrich, the guidance counselor at A.H.S.

Besides giving several aptitude tests, she also keeps the students' records up to date, does educational and vocational guidance, and personal counseling.

The seniors often come to her for information on colleges, job opportunities, and the armed forces.

Wise Choices

Mrs. Louann Schafer says that even though her main interest is in counseling all girls of A.H.S., she enjoys teaching Competitive Speech and Communication Skills.

Although the job of Dean of Girls is time-consuming with its numerous duties, Mrs. Schafer finds time to advise the Forensic Club and the Girls' League, and as a member of the Assembly Committee, has an active part in planning assemblies for the school year.

In her leisure time she enjoys skiing and tennis. Art and music interest her, too.

"I really like it here," says Mr. Marshall, counselor and band director, as he is interviewed in his office.

He goes on to explain that in counseling he talks with students about personal problems, and vocational or college preparation. He also does all the individual testing and helps Miss Friedreich with group testing.

Mr. Marshall came to A.H.S. in 1956 as band director and has, at different times, been director of the chorus and taught typing and senior math.

Besides teaching the band and counseling, he advises the rally, the pep band, and the Boys' Federation.

His after-school time is taken up with reading and listening to music.

Penny Price, who has finished her assignments in advanced English, enjoys reading an issue of Cavalcade.

In journalism, an elective of the language arts department, the school publications are produced. Mrs. Nedra Christensen explains the importance of balance to Susan Conboy in the journalism class that produces the Zephyrus.

Mr. Russell Aboorn, who keeps busy at home by fishing and reading, teaches senior English and journalism and advises the Astor Post.

Mrs. Nedra Christensen, who teaches sophomore English, also advises the Zephyrus. Her hobbies include reading, painting, and gardening.

Helping students to better develop their powers of communication and to fully appreciate good literature are the goals of the language arts teachers. Through both oral and written rhetoric, students learn to think logically and express themselves effectively.

A new addition to the high school curriculum this year, is the remedial reading program which has been financed from federal funds granted through Title 1, National Defense Act.

Drama, a course given this year as an elective, has proven popular with the students. They have gained experience in acting and studied many plays.

Drama and junior English teacher. Mrs. Betty Ann Drew finds time to enjoy her husband and family, the Chinook Charter Service and to advise the Thespians.

Mr. John Price is kept busy with his one class of junior English and four classes of senior English. He also advises IRL.

Language Arts

Broadens Scope

Thru Literature

A lighthearted mural, symbolic of characters and episodes in Huckleberry Finn, belies the serious discussion of themes by a panel from English III.

Adding the final touches to a display window, is foreign exchange student, Peter Hobbing, who is a member of the library methods class.

Speech and English teacher, Mr. Cecil Smith, who taught last year in Madras Oregon, says that fishing in lakes and streams occupies most of his spare time.

Mrs. Josephine Swanson, junior English teacher, advises F.T.A. and the National Honor Society. In her leisure time, she enjoys reading.

A newcomer to AHS this year, Mr. Gary Weinstein, teaches sophomore English and world history. He also advises the sophomore class.

Mrs. Pat Coffeen, who lived previously in Lake Oswego, is the new remedial reading teacher. Out of school, she spends time with her two children.

Learning by doing, Rod Severson delivers an oratory in first-year speech class.

Energetic Mr. Tony Cutsforth, when not teaching biology or geometry, coaches both football and wrestling.

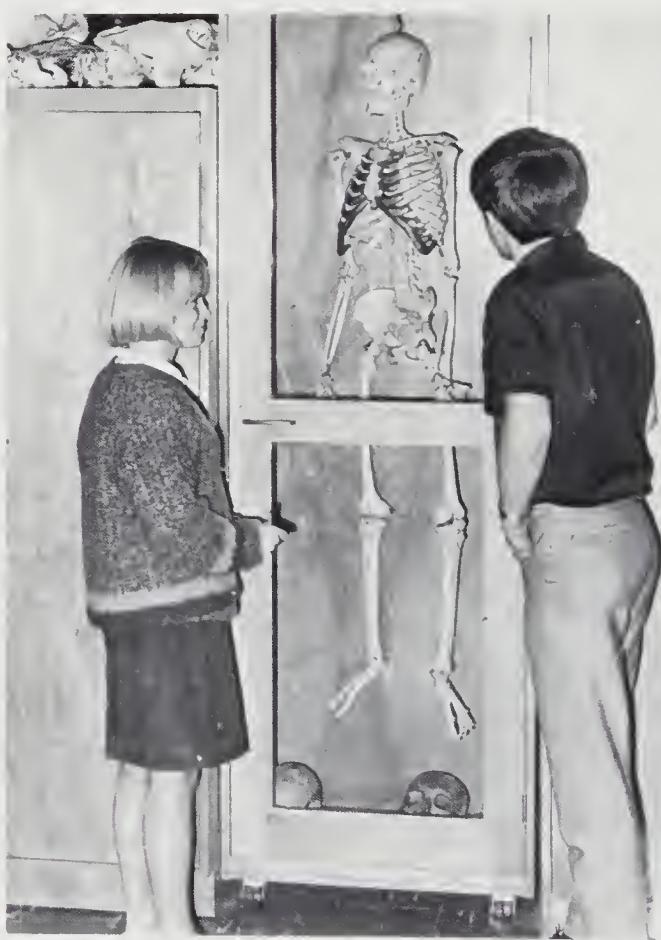

An avid golfer and fisherman in his spare time, Mr. Dale Evans teaches chemistry, coaches golf and J.V. football, and advises Mu Alpha Theta.

Scientific Era Brings Modern Methods to AHS

The science department has progressed with the "scientific era" with its modern teaching methods and facilities. Each science teacher has kept up with the "era" through recent summer sessions and experimental courses. The chemistry and biology departments have obtained additional equipment essential for more student experimentation to find the answers. The physics department has both a combined course of trigonometry and physics and a separate physics class.

Investigating the reactioning volumes of two solutions of known concentrations, are Gary Ramsey and Gary Olsen, chemistry students.

Grinning banefully at Jenny Johnson and Jick Pilgreen, is the biology department's skeleton, Bonella.

AHS Adds Calculus To Curriculum

Slide rules prove to be an important device in Mr. Scott's seventh period trig. class.

Although there are many varied opinions on teaching the new mathematics at the junior high level, the consensus of opinion at Astoria High is that, this innovation better prepares the high school students for the more advanced mathematics which is being demanded in this scientific age. The only objection to the program is the problem of an ever-changing nomenclature.

Because of this current emphasis on mathematical training, AHS offers algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and calculus, the latter being added to the curriculum for the first time this year.

Mr. William Reuter teaches advanced algebra, geometry, and senior review. He is adviser of Mu Alpha Theta and the National Honor Society.

Mr. Robert Scott, who (according to the grape vine) wears a suit only on payday, teaches advanced algebra, trigonometry, and physics. He is senior class adviser.

Mr. Reuter explains a problem in advanced algebra to Brian Olsvik, Steve Palmrose, and Jim Mullins.

Languages Key to Culture

"Languages," commented Mrs. Gross, "are the key to other cultures, i.e. to the hearts of other peoples."

In the foreign language classes, students learn more than just the attitude, the background, and the culture of the people who live there.

As the world becomes smaller through more advanced methods of transportation and communication, understanding between peoples is increasingly important.

To enable the language student to go into more advanced study two new classes, German III and French IV, were organized this year. These emphasize the study of these countries' literature.

Listening to Spanish records in the language lab has proven beneficial to language students. Joy Moskovita takes advantage of the new device in Spanish II.

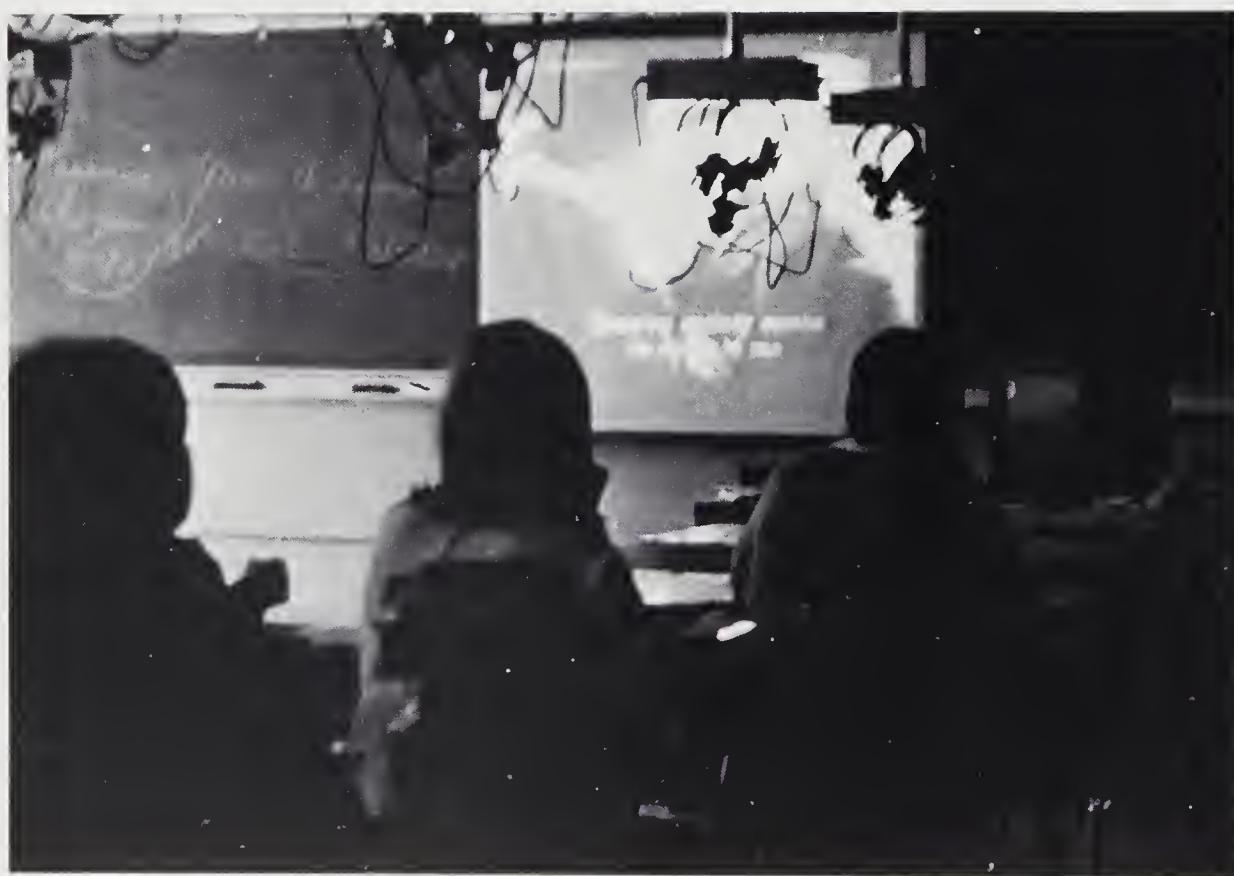

An AHS graduate, Miss Linda Fowler, is interested in sports and folk dancing. She teaches Spanish at both the high and junior high schools and advises the Spanish Club.

As pastor of the Episcopal Church, Dr. Carl Gross has but half the day to devote to teaching German, his native tongue, and to co-advising the Europe Club.

Teaching French and German and co-advising the Europe Club takes up the major part of Mrs. Magdaline Gross' time. Reading is her hobby at home.

Members of the German II class enjoy watching a film on Germany.

Teachers Emphasize Creativity

Mr. Bill Gunderson, when not teaching world history and art, likes reading, refinishing furniture, and "collecting things."

Photography teacher and publication photographer, Mr. Reuben Jenson, says photography is also his hobby. He first came to AHS in 1930.

Mrs. Weiss, the special achievement teacher, came to AHS from Gearhart. She says her favorite hobby is painting, but she likes collecting recipes, and taking pictures.

Learning the technical skills of portraiture from Mr. Jensen, photography students use Albert Stockton as a model.

"Art is neither a form of play, a hobby, nor a subordinate subject, but a way to knowledge so vital and needed that we dare not neglect it," said Mrs. Weiss, special achievement teacher who strongly emphasizes art in her curriculum of varied subjects.

Each student in regular creative art courses, under the direction of Mr. Gunderson, has a quota of one painting per week. Mr. Gunderson feels that a choice of projects gives the individual a feeling of self-expression.

Still another creative art is photography, a program taught by Mr. Jensen that emphasizes learning to develop pictures, operate cameras and roll one's own film.

Choral Students Take Special Honors

Students enrolled in General Choir this year are (1st row, l. to r.) C. Olvey, M. Stauf, P. Van Winkle, T. Olvey, P. Leach, S. Barnett, M. Bowers, C. Forgey, J. Larson, P. Thompson; (2nd row) N. Bingaman, A. Kobbe, J. Buckman, R. Albertson, M. Hansen, B. Ledbetter, J. Barger, K. Summers, Y. Wheatley, S. Dampier, and S. Edwards.

Climaxing the spring concert, Mr. Seeborg, superintendent, presented the Arion Awards to Roberta Gibson and Doug Nopson. Mrs. Nopson is shown here pinning an honorary pin on Roberta.

"There is delight in singing, tho' none hear beside the singer," Walter Lander once wrote to Robert Browning. Although most students choose chorus as an elective because they enjoy singing, many people have the pleasure of hearing their fine choral music in programs and concerts.

Under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Nopson, the highly rated choral department took part in many activities during the year. Also, three students had the honor of singing in the "All State Choir." They were Roberta Gibson, Peter Hobbing, and Bob Biddle.

The newly organized Choralettes, composed of girls who take a special interest in vocal music, earned a one rating in district competition in Seaside; and sang for various local programs.

Guest conductor, Boris Sirpo, talks informally with student director, Doug Nopson, and band director, Mr. Marshall, at a reception following the winter band concert.

Guests Highlight

AHS Band Concerts

The Astoria High School Band, long noted for its superior performances, gave three concerts for the 1965-66 school season. At the Sibelius Centennial Concert, honoring Jean Sibelius, famed Finnish composer, the guest conductor was Boris Sirpo of the Portland Symphony. This was one of many concerts which commemorated the birth of Sibelius throughout the world. During the winter concert, guest trombonist, George Roberts, played several numbers with the dance band. The spring concert featuring the band members themselves, brought another season of fine music to a close.

Mr. Marshall directs the Symphonic Band in the Winter Concert. Band members are front row (l. to r.): L. Korff, C. Clayton, L. Fornas, P. Jones, J. Roberts, D. Campbell, M. Mattson, D. Peters, L. Seeborg, P. Price. Second row (l. to r.): J. Mullins, M. Yost, B. Forseth, D. Rule, A. Nelson, R. Robertson, B. Blue, S. Palmrose, H. Burkhart, C. Pernu, L. Wahlstrom. Third row (l. to r.): R. King, S. Kyle, J. Lake, M. Magnuson, E. Duff, G. Wood, D. Graybeal, E. Oliver, R. Lyngstad, B. Opdycke, R. Campbell. Fourth

Practical Arts

New to the high school is Mrs. Barbara Grayum, home economics teacher, who shares her time with the junior high. Sewing and knitting are her hobbies, and she is the adviser of FHA.

A new teacher to Astoria this year, Miss Hamilton teaches shorthand, office practice and typing. She is also a swimming and skiing enthusiast.

Mr. Marvin Hautala's teaching duties include metal shop, mechanical drawing, and architectural drawing. When asked what his hobbies were, he replied, "Everything is my hobby, if it isn't, it soon will be."

Practical art classes give students the chance to develop their abilities by actually "learning by doing." In mechanical drawing and shop classes, the class learns about the products they work with and the skillful use of tools.

Vocational training is the primary goal of students taking shorthand, book-keeping and office practice; whereas, typing is a subject usually taken for personal benefit.

Through home economics girls get a practical knowledge of cooking and sewing that can be useful all their lives.

Drivers' education is a six week class to improve driving habits.

Electric typewriters prove to be challenging for Typing students.

In third year home economics, Betsy Ross prepares a portion of a full course dinner.

Students Learn by Doing

Mr. Hiestand teaches classroom driving education at the junior high school. His duties at the high school are to give the students that have their permit or license, a six-hour, behind-the-wheel driving course.

Woodshop and mechanical drawing teacher, Mr. Larry Johnson, says that he hunts and fishes in his spare time.

The arrival of his first son, Shawn, climaxed Mr. Ricketts' year. He teaches bookkeeping and typing and acts as head track coach and JV basketball coach.

In woodshop, David Sjoli diligently carves detail work on a bow which he plans to use upon completion.

Giving practical last minute instructions to "behind the wheel" students, is Mr. Hiestand, driving instructor.

History Awakens Students

Mr. Carl Carlson, teacher of Modern Problems and Latin, works in his vegetable garden and also reads mysteries, histories, and biographies. He advises the senior class.

At school, Mr. Michael Foster teaches world history and advises student and executive councils. Hobbies he enjoys include painting, golfing, and skiing.

Besides teaching Modern Problems, Mr. Darrell Hawes takes an active interest in reading, "arguing," and watching athletic contests. He also advises the IRL.

Delivering an informative speech on the structure of the Oregon legislature to the U.S. Government class is State Senator Dan Thiel.

Another first at Astoria High is the "high-school bowl" which was originated by Mr. Sarin and carried out by his classes. (Pictured left).

The prime objective of the social studies program is to awaken the student to his environment and his responsibility in society. To make history more vivid to the students, Astoria social studies teachers vary their routine by using panel discussions, debates, skits, and plays.

AHS now offers government and economics besides the required courses of world and U.S. history and modern problems.

One of Mr. Gunderson's favorite quotations—"He who does not know the past is doomed to repeat it"—is certainly a good reason for all to study history.

A valued addition to the high school library is the new microfilm reader, which is shown being used by two library method students under the supervision of Miss Halderman. The new machine has microfilm for thirty-five different magazines beginning with the 1964 editions.

Mr. Charles Sarin, teacher of U.S. history and economics, is interested in his "continuous education." He is a junior adviser and coaches J.V. baseball.

A U.S. stamp collector and a gardener in her spare time, Miss Rose Tolonen also enjoys advising American history and government.

AHS Raises Physical Requirements

Mr. Pete Bryant, varsity basketball coach, teaches boys' P.E. and business math. His hobbies are collecting old 78 records and hunting ducks.

"I don't have any real hobbies, but I like to ski (?) and dance," says Miss Pat Eddy, P.E. teacher. She advises both G.A.A. and Spirit and Morale.

Head football coach, Mr. Vince Duliech, teaches boys' P.E. and helps advise the "A" Club. He says that he enjoys "all sports and fishing."

Judy Lake succeeds in balancing herself in the V-sit during P.E. class. Linda Fornas, Miss Eddy and Elaine Robertson appreciate her skill.

Successfully spiking the ball over the net in a boys' P.E. volleyball game, is Rolf Hansen.

In keeping with the stress on physical fitness, AHS has raised its standards on physical requirements. Juniors as well as sophomores are now required to take physical education, and seniors may. Following a program of vigorous physical activity, P.E. students learn teamwork, sportsmanship, and soon master many new skills.

STUDENT LIFE

at Astoria High does not end in the classroom. There are last minute hopeful preparations for Homecoming competition . . . responsibility of leadership . . . participating in club meetings . . . decorating for class dances . . . the tenseness before the final round in speech competition . . . bus trips for out of town games . . . that awful dress rehearsal before opening night . . . the mad rush to meet deadlines . . . staging a style show . . . those last few, breathless moments of the game before the final winning points are scored . . . creating catchy slogans for posters . . . awaiting the announcement of the name of the queen . . . that frantic rush for the counter at half-times . . . the thrill of that first formal dance . . . and the fun and excitement of election week.

Since 1953 Homecoming has been the outstanding event, in which everyone gets into the act. New this year, the Winter Festival has provided a mid-year "spirit pick-up" for the whole student body with the powder puff basketball, the "Olympic" games, and an under-class queen.

At Homecoming

For the thirteenth year, AHS celebrated Homecoming. During a week of whirlwind activities tailored to the theme, Holiday International, classes entered into the spirit of competition with enthusiasm.

At the presentation of "royalty" the senior class won when they introduced their three princesses in a scene of Oriental splendor.

Queen Linda I was crowned in a colorful setting of pastel flowers.

After winning leading points at both the bonfire rally and the noise parade, the sophomores earned the Homecoming trophy.

The only disappointment of the week was the Fishermen's defeat by the Central Catholic Rams.

On Saturday, students and alums danced to live music and Queen Linda and her court made their final appearance.

Supervising activities are (seated) J. Lovvold, bonfire rally; L. Seeborg, coronation; J. Mogenson, alumni; S. Swenson, dance; C. Pernu, competition; (standing) R. Fearey, publicity; R. Hickman, clean-up; D. Ball, bonfire construction; K. Doss, parade float; S. Palmrose, noise parade; and D. Lay, general co-ordinator.

During the winning presentation of princesses, Ed Classen and Doug Nopson take the student body back to the enchanting land of ancient China.

A professional singing group, Mr. Lucky and the Gamblers, add that lively note to the Homecoming dance.

Officers' Goal — Student Participation

As part of his duties, Student Body President Greg Wood accepts an American flag, that has flown over the White House in Washington, D.C., from U.S. Representative Wendell Wyatt, a guest speaker at a special Student Body Assembly.

According to Greg Wood, student body president, the students have cooperated well with the officers to maintain an effective government for Astoria High this year.

Striving to solve student difficulties, the student body officers established a president's advisory council.

Working to improve communications between the students and their government, the officers rejuvenated the suggestion box and emphasized the publicity of student body affairs. Keeping the students informed about club activities was the news bulletin board in the cafeteria.

Reactivated standing committees also added to the effectiveness of this years' student government.

Mr. Foster, student council adviser, Cathy Cronen, secretary, and Doug Lay, vice-president, discuss a recent student council meeting.

Heading Astoria High's 1965-66 student body are Greg Wood, president; Doug Lay, vice-president, Laurie Seeborg, chaplain; Cathy Cronen, secretary; Jane Bigby, treasurer; and Ken Orwick, parliamentarian.

Club Backs Programs, Tournaments

Since the goal of the Forensic Club is to have AHS represented at more speech tournaments, the group has held a bottle drive, sponsored a dance, and promoted a band concert in order to raise the money needed to attend the meets. They represented the school at the Fall and Spring Metro, Portland State, Portland University, Linfield, District, and State Tournaments.

The Forensic Club also participated in school programs and individuals appeared on several programs for local organizations.

The Easter Bunny (Russ Hickman) draws an affectionate smile from Dan Smith, the master of ceremonies at the Easter Assembly.

In the Thanksgiving assembly skit, The Devil and Miles Standish, Evelyn Timmerman, Peggy Nizich, and Janet Dietrichs play the parts of pilgrims beset by many problems.

Astoria High students placing 1st, 2nd, or 3rd in the Lower Columbia District Speech Tournament are (front row): J. Rautio, D. Morrell, J. Dietrichs, J. Stearns; second row: C. Petersen, J. Singleton, M. Wukich, K. Wheeler; third row: T. Blum, M. O'Bryant, and E. Classen.

Attending a Girls' League Cabinet meeting are (seated): Charlene Heikka, president; Mrs. Schafer, adviser, and Sylvia Wirkkula, vice-president; (standing): Kathleen Gjovik, senior representative; Jackie Kary, treasurer; Barbara Reed, secretary; Molly Burget, flag bearer; Jan Mogenson, junior representative; and Mary Lou Woolridge, sophomore representative. Not pictured is Nancy Reed, scrapbook keeper.

Among the models of "Parasols of Fashion" at the annual mother-daughter banquet are K. Steele, D. Morrell, B. Gray, and S. Matilla.

Nervously waiting to go on stage for the Girls' League fashion show are several of the student models.

League Meeting

The Girls' League, an association to which all AHS girls belong, has carried out several successful activities this year.

Among these have been the fall fashion show, an auction, the annual mother-daughter banquet and style show. A special treat was having Susan Pack, Miss Oregon of 1965, speak of her experiences in representing her state in the Miss America Pageant and sing several numbers that she had sung in the state and national pageants.

Although top recognition goes to the senior girl who wins the Girls' League scholarship, each month one girl is honored as being outstanding for one particular character trait.

Cathy Cronen, (right) Girls' League Girl of the Year, congratulates Jackie Singleton on winning the League scholarship. Each year the scholarship is awarded to an outstanding member of Girls' League.

Club officers, discussing "A" club plans, are Leonard Manners, president; Tigbe Davis, vice-president; Dan Hearn, secretary, and Scott Parker, sergeant-at-arms.

Included in an eventful A-Club program this year were three sports banquets and one golf tournament. The major program of the year was the All-Sports banquet when athletic awards were given. Receiving awards were Steve Palmrose, most inspirational basketball player; Ken Orwick, most valuable track member; Cliff Fick, most valuable baseball player; Gary Mogenson, Chris Pohl trophy for most inspirational football player; Charles Luukinen, Gordon Scott trophy for most valuable basketball player; and Don Atwood most valuable wrestler. Bill Taylor and Bob Messer received service awards.

"Practice Makes Perfect"—GAA's Theme

The Girls' Athletics Association, under the direction of Miss Eddy, P.E. teacher, has been quite active this year. The girls have been kept busy practicing almost every week.

They have competed in basketball, volleyball, and track with several different schools in Clatsop County. They attended a basketball tournament in Seaside, a volleyball tournament in Warrenton, and several track meets.

Guiding the 1965-66 G.A.A., are officers Bonnie Henningsen, president; Sue King, vice-president; Bonnie Forseth, secretary, and Connie Pernu, treasurer.

With the ball on her fingertips and her eye on the basket, Diana Smith stands poised for a shot. Guarding her is Bonnie Forseth.

Although apparently having trouble here returning the volleyball, the teachers beat their hosts in the annual Faculty-G.A.A. game.

Varsity Rally

Varsity Rally plans pep assemblies, works with the Spirit and Morale Committee, and peps up the student body in backing varsity teams.

They keep up with the latest cheerleading techniques by attending the summer rally clinic and practicing hours each week.

Pert and pretty Rally Squad members, Janice Chadsey, Jan Lovvold, and Peggy Nizich, are caught between yells during the exciting State Basketball Tournament.

Energetic Rally Queen, Jan Lovvold, plans pep assemblies, heads Spirit and Morale Committee, and organizes bus trips to out-of-town games, besides being an active Rally Squad member.

And Pepsters Keep the Crowds Cheering

At the State Tournament in Portland, Astoria's Pepsters are alerted to do their novelty number, "Tiger Rag," during the half-time activities of the Baker-Astoria game.

For the third consecutive year, the Astoria Pepsters have the unusual distinction of being awarded first in the pom pon division of the National Rally Clinic held at Lewis and Clark College. The recognition that these girls earn only comes after long hours of practice.

The Pepsters are an integral part of almost any sports event. With their snappy dance routines they help to generate the pep and enthusiasm of the student body that spurs the boys to victory on the field or the court.

Peppy J. V. Rally Builds Team Spirit

Energetic J.V. Rally members Diana Smith, Christine Gerritz, Marlys Lovvold, Teri Astrom and Linda Hall support their team with spirited yells.

Practicing three hours a week and attending Spirit and Morale meetings keep the Junior Varsity Rally jumping. The support of this bouncy quintet is important to the morale of the Junior Varsity team.

The J.V. Rally watches intently as their team battles with the opponent.

Spirit And Morale Prepare Game Posters

Through her humorous poster, rally member, Jackie Singleton, urges students to attend the game.

Down on her knees for AHS is Jan Lovvold, spirit and Morale chairman, applying the first stroke to a poster.

Many eye-catching posters urging students to, "Come to the game!", or "Fire up Fishermen!", may be seen on walls of the halls and breezeways during the last part of the week before a game. These are prepared by the Spirit and Morale Committee, which is headed by Jan Lovvold, Rally Queen, and is made up of rally squads and other interested students. The adviser is Miss Eddy.

Pep Band Sparks

Fisherman Spirit

Playing at all the home basketball games and pep assemblies, the Astoria Pep Band, directed by Doug Nopson, keeps alive the Astoria Fighting Spirit. Also, the intricate routines of the Pepsters depend on the precision timing of the band. "Java," "B-flat," and "In the Mood," are only a few of the pieces played by them.

One of the traditions they follow is playing the national anthem at the beginning and the Alma Mater at the end of each home game.

Johnson, P. O'Bryant. (back row) L. Korff, C. Clayton, L. Fornas, M. Yost, P. Price, C. Pernu, D. Nopson, M. O'Bryant, A. Wright, M. Wong, T. Anderson, and R. Robertson.

Astor Post Staff Covers School News

Taking their first year in journalism and helping report for the Astor Post are, seated: Vicki Johnson, and Sue Pattee; first row: Judy Dreyer, Colleen Savage, Lynn Ostrom, Bette

Every other Friday afternoon, during seventh period, eager students anticipate the arrival of the latest edition of Astoria High's newspaper, the Astor Post.

The staff takes pride in providing adequate, complete, and up-to-date information on school activities.

The newspaper, established in 1924, was originally called Astoria Hi-Lite. The name was open to criticism, though, and in 1927 the AHS student body voted to change it to the Astor Post.

Last fall, editors of both the Astor Post and the Zephyrus, with their advisers, attended the journalism press conference on the University of Oregon campus.

Staff Rushes To Meet Deadlines

During seventh period, the Zephyrus office (213) is the center of activity for the lively staff members who compile the school's only permanent record of the year's activities.

Since 1905, when the staff first named the yearbook the Zephyrus, each succeeding staff has tried to produce a more interesting edition. This year it has emphasized history and tradition.

Pictures must be planned, supervised, and taken; art work must be originally designed; pages must be laid out and copy written; and subscriptions must be recorded and sponsors contacted.

Since the new staff members (three-fourths of the staff) have had no previous training, they must learn the many details of publication while meeting deadlines.

Next year's staff is already planning for another Zephyrus.

Staff members hurriedly work to meet their first of four deadlines, when they must send forty pages to the publisher. Pooling their various talents to put out the Zephyrus are (seated, l. to r.) Judy Serles, Linda Green, Susan Conboy, Liisa Rautio, Russ Hickman, Bessie Koljonen, Linda Trent, Spiros Papadimos, Andy Thorsness, Martha Rasmussen and Jan Benson. Standing are Russell Cunningham, Terry Duoos and Ernest Moore.

Not all problems of publication are as humorous as the one the executive heads of the Zephyrus seem to be discussing. Pictured are Mrs. Christensen, editorial adviser; Cathy Gillette, editor-in-chief; Shelby Day, business manager; and Mr. Ricketts, business adviser.

Courtroom Drama Staged For All-School Production

The Night of January 16th, a comedy courtroom drama in three acts by Ayn Rand, which was presented here in December, drew the audience into the play's action by having the jury selected from the auditorium. Locally, the jury gave a different verdict each night.

Adding another realistic touch, even the witnesses (part of the play cast) came from the audience to testify.

Even though a large cast was involved, Mrs. Drew, director and adviser, chose to double-cast the already large play.

An after-play cast party Friday night helped to relieve the tension brought on by weeks of work and the night of the final performance.

One of the unique features of this year's Fall Production was the double casting. First night leads were Shirley Mattila, Kathy Wheeler (first row), Phil Abbey, and Bill Velzy (second row). The second night's cast was headed by Allison Cellars, Sue Pattee, Dan Armstrong, and Doug Nopson.

"How could he think of suicide!" sobs Nancy Falkner (Allison Cellars) in answer to District Attorney Flint's (Dan Armstrong) question. Presiding Judge Heath is played by Ed Classen.

Drama Class Goes Melodramatic

Cast members seem relaxed after the strain of opening night. They are (front row) K. Brown, D. Schuster, L. Snider, S. Pattee, M. Haines, S. Mattila, D. Ball, R. Everett, (back row)

B. Van Osdol, D. Jensen, S. Calkins, B. Gray, B. Eaton, S. Forrester, D. Ward, H. Symmonds, J. Zillman, R. Van Osdol, A. Nelson, and S. Mathre.

For this year's spring production an old-fashioned melodrama, Dirty Work at the Cross-roads or Tempted, Tried, and True, complete with Sweet Nell and a treacherous villain was chosen by Mrs. Drew, the drama instructor. The play was double cast from members of the two drama classes, and nearly every student was involved in some way.

Once the audience got used to the type of humor used, they enjoyed the "corny" melodrama.

Adding to the entertainment were the Oleo acts, which were presented between curtains.

"Munro (Phil Abbey), if you love me, you'll take your sister from my presence," pleads Leonie (Sandie Campbell) when her mother is revealed as a dipsomaniac.

The future Homemakers of America, this year, have been a lively, ambitious club.

Members were kept busy dressing dolls for the needy children of Astoria, making trays for St. Mary's Hospital, putting on an after-game dance, a picnic, a mothers' tea, and a cake sale. They also listened to talks from various speakers and attended a district meeting.

I. R. L. Conscious of World Affairs

Preparatory to attending the state I.R.L. conference, delegates study the map of Africa and review our country's foreign policy there. Delegates are Greg Wood, Mary-Clare Hankel, Julie Anderson, Linda Trent and Peter Hobbing.

Meeting each week at Great Decisions meetings, the International Relations League puts into practice their desires to better prepare themselves to take part in world affairs.

The highlight of this year's activities for IRL was their annual Conference at the University of Oregon. During the proceedings, the topic of discussion was the political and economic aspects of Africa. Experts on Africian affairs were present at the conference to share their first-hand information with Oregon students.

The members of IRL have been guided through this year's activities by Julie Anderson, president; Harold Symmonds, vice-president; Carol Peterson, secretary-treasurer; and Mary Clare Hankel, historian and Mr. Price, adviser.

Future Teachers Group

Interested in Careers

in Field of Education

Under the guidance of Miss Toloren and Mrs. Swanson, Future Teachers of America has actively continued to work towards its goal of creating an interest in a career in education again this year.

Highlighting the club's activities was a visitation day when members toured city and consolidated schools to observe and discuss teaching methods.

A state convention in McMinnville and a regional convention in Vernonia provided interesting experiences for club members. To raise funds for these conventions, FTA sponsored an after-game dance, The Youth Conference on Education held one week in the summer at various colleges of education was enjoyed by two members who received scholarships for that purpose.

A special joint project with the Library Club was reading to youngsters at the YMCA on Saturdays.

Winding up a busy and informative year, members held a bowling party followed by a dinner.

Ready to leave for a Future Teachers' conference at Linfield College are Miss Toloren, adviser; K. Steele, C. Wuori, R. Everett, A. Flood, H. Symmonds, J. Dietrichs, S. Palmrose, S. Waldrop, R. King, and Mrs. Swanson, adviser.

Library Club Sponsors Batman's Ball

"Wow! Zap! Bam!" With "Batman's Ball" as the theme for this year's Library Club dance, Library Methods students are keeping up with the times. Along with their annual girl-ask-boy dance, the Library Club also sponsors annually a Halloween Coffee and Christmas Tea for the faculty.

Library Methods students assist the librarians by arranging magazine and book shelves each week, preparing bulletin boards, and waiting on students at the charging desk. They do assignments designed to give them a working knowledge of library organization and use.

Office Girls Perform School Services

Besides being of service to the school, office girls gain a valuable business experience. Although they do not receive academic credit for helping the school secretaries, they seem to enjoy their work.

Among their duties are posting attendance, answering the phone, and running errands.

Ann Mason is instructed in the use of the electric typewriter by Mrs. Clarke.

Working diligently at the desk, three of the busy office girls are Sheila Swenson, Janet Dietrichs and Catherine Bue.

Friendly office girls are, first row: S. Swenson, A. Flood, L. Petersen, J. Dietrichs, C. Bue, D. Russell, V. Johnson, and M.

Dante's Inferno Features Live Music

Part of the Queen's entertainment included a rendition of Edgar Allen Poe's The Raven. Mr. Alborn narrates as Mr. Foster impersonates the raven. Not shown are Miss Friedrichs playing Lenore and Miss Halderman who provides the sound effects.

It is the Queen's Dance for Queen Shirley Mattila and her escort, Larry Martin.

Dimly lit colored lights reflected the eerie atmosphere of the 1966 Senior Ball. Flames dancing along the walls and hanging stalagmites added a realistic touch to the Senior class portrayal of Dante's imagined Inferno. "The Rogues" added to the uniqueness of the occasion by providing live music.

Shirley Mattila took the spotlight when she was crowned Queen by Senior class president, Ed Classen. Princesses Jan Lovvold, Janet Dietrichs, Jackie Singleton, and Liisa Rautio completed this year's court.

Contributing to the evening's entertainment were the Devil's Advocates, a senior instrumental group. A humorous interpretation by a group of teachers and piano selections by Mrs. Betty Phillips were also presented.

A happy quintet, Jackie Singleton, Jan Lovvold, Shirley Matilla, Janet Dietrichs, and Liisa Rautio, are the five senior girls honored at Dante's Inferno.

Juniors Choose Fanciful Prom Theme

Catching the atmosphere of oriental splendor, by its lavish decorations, the class of 1967 presented its first formal dance, "An Evening in Shangri-La." Traditional pagodas, fans, dragons, kites and parasols were among the colorful decorations which added to the formal occasion.

Highlighting the evening's festivities, was the crowning of King Tim Collins and Queen Judy Paulsen. Entertainment for the royal couple was provided by the Bill Sutton Trio.

Penny Norgaard and Brian Olsvik are the last royal couple to be presented at the Junior Prom. The other members of the court are Janis Chadsey, Pete Nieni, Judy Paulsen, Tim Collins, Maria Rautio, Chuck Olson, Peggy Nizich, and Rob Greenberg.

King Tim Collins leads Queen Judy Paulsen in the Royal Dance shortly after their coronation.

Couples dance to music of stereo recordings in the midst of Oriental surroundings.

Soph Hop Opens Spring Social Season

Judy Lake trades prizes for chips won in Reno-type games played at the Soph Hop.

Capturing the atmosphere of a Reno night-club, the sophomores presented the first informal dance of the spring season. Among the unusual decorations were large playing cards, a huge pair of dice, and an elaborate bar where soft drinks and cookies were served. Tape recorded records provided music for the dancers.

Students dance to records in a casino-like atmosphere at "Roust About Reno."

Gathered around a game table at the Soph Hop are boys interested in the unusual activities.

In front of the snack bar where busy members work during basketball season are shown the Service Club and their advisers. They are Miss Friedrich, adviser; L. Steph, C. Endicott, L. Thompson, D. Russell, C. McCallister, S. Kyle, B. Henningsen,

S. Bedell, H. Burkhart, Mr. McKay, adviser; (back row) C. Heikka, L. Miller, L. Rautio, J. Moskovita, K. Petersen, L. Trent, K. Tikka, B. Gray, P. Knutsen, C. Irby, C. Cronen, and K. Bailey.

Dogpatch Characters Come to Life

"Service with a smile"—that's the unwritten motto of the girls in Service Club. These helpful girls apply for the privilege of serving their school in a position that calls for a lot of work but allows little recognition.

It isn't all work for the club, though. They hold an annual Christmas party and a picnic for themselves and present the traditional Sadie Hawkins' Dance each year. The Sassafras Ball this year was a big success with replicas of Daisy Mae, Lil' Abner, and the Kigmies surveying the fun.

Leading the Service Club in their activities this year were Liisa Rautio, historian; Linda Miller, treasurer; Carolyn Irby, president; Kathy Bailey, vice-president; and Peggy Knutsen, secretary.

Cathy Cronen is about to crown the charming (?) and stylish (?) monarchs of the Sassafras Ball, Rosemary Thomas and Nancy Reed.

Winter Festival Marks New Astoria Tradition

Diana Smith and Jim Sellars place an orange between their foreheads as they prepare to race in one of the many hilarious contests at the Olympics.

Empress Jane Copstead and Emperor Garry Hovde, shown here being crowned by Greg Wood, are the first royal couple to reign over the Winter Festival.

A touch of royalty was added to Astoria High School's first Winter Festival with the crowning of Emperor Garry Hovde and Empress Jane Copstead during Saturday night's half-time activities. Two princes and princesses, chosen from each of the three classes, completed the court.

An after-game dance held in the cafeteria, which was decked with red and white streamers, brought the festivities to a close. Students especially enjoyed dancing to the live music of the Learics. The court, introduced for the second time, took the limelight during the Emperor's Ball.

An added attraction to the dance is the lively music of Pat Hope, Al Nelson, and Dan Armstrong of the Learics.

The after-game dance tops off the fun and excitement of a week of Winter Festival activities.

Election Considered Serious Business

Election posters on the Auditorium wall provide fascinating reading for students between classes.

To hold an office in the student body at Astoria High is serious business, especially for those who try for the honor.

After names are placed on the ballot through either nomination or petition, candidates prepare posters, hand-outs, and speeches.

The Voters' Pamphlet, after being discontinued for six years, was this year again produced by the Astorian Post staff and contained pictures of the candidates and their platforms.

Speeches were scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. On Friday, with posters down and speeches completed, the fate of the candidates was placed in the hands of the voters.

Even small reminders count toward getting one's candidate elected. Here Penny Price, Linda Wahlstrom, and Tom Moberg prepare to flood the school with little signs for their candidate.

"Yea!" shouts Linda Bue as she tosses confetti in the air when describing her reaction to her nomination as treasurer during her campaign speech.

Trying to appear poised, candidates and their introductory speakers listen intently (if not enviously) as their opponents give their campaign speeches.

Boys' Federation Hosts Law Officials

Safe driving and the Indianapolis 500 mile race were the subjects at a combined Boys' Federation and Girls' League meeting. Guest speakers were Judge Harold Johnson, Captain Cunningham, and Indianapolis race driver, Art Malone.

"Boys' Federation is the only organization to which all boys at AHS belong," commented Mr. Ted Marshall, adviser. Highlighting the boys' fed. program were a speech by Judge H. T. Johnson on the consequences of committing a felony, National Football League movies, and a law enforcement assembly presented by Clatsop College.

Photographer catches Mr. Marshall, Boys' Federation adviser, in a thoughtful mood.

AHS Representatives Speak for State

Girls' and Boys' Staters for 1965, who all year have been reporting to local groups on their summer experiences are, first row: K. Tikka, J. Rautio, S. Day, C. Bue; second row:

Camera Club

Covers Activities

Besides having the hobby of taking pictures for themselves, the Camera Club members perform a real service for the school by taking pictures at dances and covering school activities for the student publications.

Under Mr. Jensen's expert supervision, they experiment with different types of lighting for various kinds of pictures and, of course, gain skill in developing techniques.

Spanish and Latin Ceremonies Unique

Spanish Club

With their new adviser, Miss Fowler, the Spanish Club planned this year's agenda around two major events. To introduce first-year students to a few Spanish customs, second-year members staged a party which featured games, a pinata and a skit, "El Hero" written by Helene Adamchak. For decorations, posters (drawn by Susanne Raasina) depicted Spanish characters.

May 24th a comedy film, "The Three Partners", (with English subtitles) was shown to the public.

Latin Club

Even though the Latin Club is small and not too active, they held their annual initiation and banquet in the Fall, which proved to be quite interesting. One of the things each initiate had to do was make a dress out of newspapers, which according to Mr. Carlson, the Latin Club adviser, was "very funny."

"Ah! Que malo!" says Rosa (Doug Lay) while papa (David Hearn) prepares his lines and the villain (Helene Adamchak) smiles evilly. (This skit was part of the entertainment at a party staged for first year members.)

Looking over possible plans for a Latin Club picnic are second-year officers, Molly Burget and Teri Ostrom; first-year officers, Albin Leong and Alan Peterson; and the adviser, Mr. Carlson.

Top executives of the three periods of Spanish students are Terry Isaacson, Susanne Raasina and Robert Greenberg.

Language Students Unite To Form Club

The newly-organized Europe Club has brought both the French and German students together this year.

Having decided to make this change since these countries are in the European Common Market, this organization acquaints the students not only with the culture of each individual country, but with that of Europe as a whole, and with the new philosophy of a united Europe.

One of its most important functions has been to sponsor a number of foreign language films for classroom viewing.

Europe Club members watch Franz Litz and listen to its French script. Foreign movies were one of the club's projects.

Officers, present at the dinner, are Julie Anderson, Mary Clare Hankel and Peter Hobbing. The advisers, not pictured, are Dr. and Mrs. Gross.

At the potluck held in May at the Grace Episcopal Church, members chat with each other while they wait for dinner.

Council Undertakes New Ideas

Under the direction of Mr. Foster and Greg Wood, presiding officer, the 1965-66 Student Council has undertaken many new ideas to better student government at A.H.S.

Starting with the fun-packed Homecoming, this year's council has proved itself to be both active and efficient.

With the war in Viet Nam coming closer when a former A.H.S. student was on the casualty list, the student council promoted a fund drive for necessities to be sent to American soldiers.

The townspeople gave their backing when an enthusiastic group of students, backed by the A.H.S. Pep Band, built a money chain down Commercial Street on December 11.

The suggestion box was again put into operation by the council with significant results.

For Better Student Government

"Thank you very much for sending me the beautiful book of Astoria High School (Zephyrus). The students look very happy. I am sending a picture with me holding the book. May our Lord bless you and keep you all the time till I write you again."

Kang Koop

Shown here are the Standing Committee Chairmen who are responsible for sparkplugging student body activities. They are (seated): Molly Burget, Barbie Brooks, Charlotte Fearey, Charlene Heikka, Roxy Hallaux, (second row): Shelby Day, Carol Petersen, Allison Cellars, Catherine Bue, Barbara Gray, (third row): Dan Hearn, Leonard Manners, Ross Fearey, Jeff Leinassar, Russ Hickman, and Rob Moore.

SPORTS are prominent at Astoria High. The "Fighting Fishermen" spirit . . . "On Astoria" . . . co-captains anxiously awaiting the toss of the coin at mid-field . . . the coaches talk in the locker room at halftime . . . the tension as the centers check the positions of their teammates before the tourney game . . . the "cardboard box" award . . . and state tournaments are memorable to sport enthusiasts of AHS.

Athletic traditions were originated at AHS in 1905 when football was organized. By 1911, baseball became an organized sport at Astoria High; boys' basketball was started in 1914; track in 1915; and golf, bowling, wrestling, and cross-country have been added in the last fourteen years.

Astoria's first state basketball championship in 1930 was followed closely by three other championships in four years. Astoria's hoopsters are recognized as having participated in more state tournaments than any other high school in Oregon.

Key injuries to the varsity football team after two straight victories, the cross-country team's fourth consecutive annual victory at North Marian, Astoria's Metro-league basketball championship and the right to represent the league at state have highlighted this year.

Six Astoria Fishermen Receive Metro

Victorious in its first two games, the Astoria football varsity was getting set for its first winning season since 1958. But due to several injuries to key members on the team in the second game, the Fishermen were not able to get their offense moving in the majority of their remaining contests.

Although the Fishermen managed to compile a 2-7 record, they played a much better brand of football than their record indicates. The Astorians were able to roll up nearly as much ground yardage and punting yardage and lost fewer yards rushing than did their opponents according to final statistics.

Leading ground gainer was R. Walther with a 5.9 average per carry; leading passer was B. Munson with a .500 passing percentage; and leading tackler was G. Estrada, with 134 tackles.

Fishermen gaining Metro League recognition were R. Walther, G. Estrada, M. Munson, T. Davis, G. Mogenson, and S. Parker.

They rounded out the defeat of Sunset by dumping them 39-6. The J.V.'s also scored victories over Centennial 27-20 and Rex Putnam 14-6, but suffered two defeats, to Milwaukie 25-13 and Hillsboro 38-0. To complete the record, the J.V.'s tied David Douglas 6-6, Central Catholic 13-13, and Gresham 6-6.

Welcome back to the North Marion Invitational Meet by a special three-time winner plaque, Astoria's squad lived up to its reputation by winning for the fourth straight year.

Fishermen Win Metro Crown with

and Tod Tolan, third row: Tim Collins, manager: Larry Simonsen, Ken Parpala, Bill Monsen, Bob Mattila, Sterling Ficken, manager and Coach Pete Bryant.

The Fighting Fishermen varsity basketball team lived up to its reputation when it took first place in Metro League competition, winning both rounds of the tough schedule. (The two-round system of playing is new to Metro League and was so incorporated to give slow-starting teams a chance to represent the league at state.) The impressive Metro League 17-3 record gave Coach Pete Bryant his first undisputed Metro crown. In 1963, the Fishermen shared the crown with the Milwaukie Mustangs.

Having earned their right to compete in the state tournament, Astoria beat the Corvallis Spartans but were downed by the Baker Bulldogs. Their chances for a consolation berth were lost by a defeat to the Molalla Indians.

In non-league games Astoria won its first game against Kelso 51-40, but were dropped by Columbia River 75-56.

The most outstanding player on the varsity squad was Mike Goin, a six foot one inch junior. He finished sixth in the Metro scoring race with 331 points in twenty league appearances, to average 16.6 points per game.

In rebounds the small Astoria team had 839 to their opponents' 643. The team was led by senior Tighe Davis with 160, followed by juniors Steve Palmrose with 148 and Mike Goin with 142.

On recoveries Astoria did quite well with 402 to their opponents 208. Leading the team in this column was senior Ken Orwick with 67, followed by senior Tighe Davis with 63 and junior Steve Palmrose with 62.

Mike Goin was elected to the first team All-Metro as guard and received honorable mention for All-State. Senior Charles Luukinen and junior Steve Palmrose received honorable mention for All-Metro.

J. V.'s Post Impressive 17-5 League Mark

Seated with Coach Ronald Ricketts are members of the 1965-66 J.V. team. They are, first row: J. Stensland, B. Huhta, A. Reith, C. Olson, J. Jacobson, A. Peterson, and P. Niemi; second row: T. Sarpola, J. Saarheim, M. Bellingham, J. Cronen, M. Springer, D. Hearn, R. Cronen, B. Leonard, manager.

The J.V. basketball team posted a respectable 17-5 league mark. Astoria's record was good enough to tie for the Metro League J.V. title this year. Astoria's impressive record came on "good offense, good shooting, and good rebounding," according to Coach Ron Ricketts.

A balanced attack also helped the J.V.'s gain a formidable record. Art Reith led the club with 208 points and 123 rebounds. John Cronen closely followed Reith with 199 points. Dave Hearn led the team in recoveries with 71, while Mike Springer led the club in assists with 42.

As a team, Astoria outshot their opponents .426 to .380 and outrebounded them 975 to 793.

"Several of the boys should be able to play varsity ball next year," concluded Coach Ricketts.

Chuck Olson goes high in the air trying to out-jump an opponent for a short shot.

Dave Hearn successfully steals a rebound from an opposing player.

Going up for two points from the free-throw line is forward Bob Huhta.

Attempting to tip the ball to an Astoria teammate is guard John Cronen.

First All-Star Game Highlights Intramurals

Action in the first Intramural All - Star - Championship game shows George Estrada, a member of the All-Star team, driving for a layin against Bob Carsner of the Championship team. Victors were the league winning Mogenson's, by a score of 47-40. Mogenson's, who had an unblemished league mark of 10-0, was paced by Steve Wilson with a 24-2 scoring average, the highest in league history.

Two Baker guards unsuccessfully attempt to block a long jump shot by Astoria forward Mike Goin.

Rob Greenberg and Bill Monsen go high in the air to out rebound Dave Rothwell of Molalla, high scorer of the tourney.

Fishermen Shocked By Surprise Tourney Team

After upsetting the Corvallis Spartans 64-48, the Astoria Fishermen's chances for a championship game looked very promising. But their hopes abruptly ended when they were defeated by the "Cinderella" Baker Bulldogs 53-49. The Astorians were eliminated from the tourney when they lost to the Molalla Indians 59-57.

"I feel we were ten seconds and four points away from playing in the finals," remarked Coach Pete Bryant about the Baker game after the tourney.

Charlie Luukinen, a senior guard, quickly fakes out a startled Molalla defender.

Olympics, Girls' Basketball in Lupercalia

Faltering in their attempt to construct a human pyramid are members of the sophomore class.

Lupercalia, the first winter festival to be held at Astoria High, featured a girls' powder-puff basketball game and high-school Olympics.

The Junior-Soph basketball team won the powderpuff game by a score of 15-11, although the Senior-Sophs made a valiant rally in the fourth quarter.

Taking winning honors at the Olympics were the sophomores, followed by the seniors and the juniors. Various races and contests highlighted the games.

Paula Rieck and Janice Tubbs enthusiastically try to complete the orange race as Bob Messer officiates.

Wrestling Coach Tony Cutsforth instructs players in the finer points of wrestling.

wood, (standing) Coach T. Cutsforth, Manager R. Cummings, R. Gregg, G. Hovde, S. Adams, S. Dean, K. Kahl, and D. Kindred.

Little Participation Hampers Wrestlers

Varsity wrestling team co-captains are seniors Don Atwood and Garry Hovde.

Dave Heckard, Astoria varsity wrestler, pins unknown opponent.

Wrestling their last year on the varsity squad are seniors Keith Kahl and Dave Kindred.

The Astoria grapplers placed 7th out of 10 teams competing at the district meet, but occupied the Metro League cellar with a 0-11 record.

Outstanding players on the team were Sam Adams, who made All-district second team by winning 11 out of his 12 matches for the year, and Gary Hovde, one of the co-captains, who received honorable mention in the 168 pound-weight class.

The team was hampered by the fact that there were only 15 players to make up the 13 weight classes on the varsity team. So Astoria had to forfeit two of the weight classes, because there were no wrestlers to fill the positions. There were two freshmen wrestlers on the varsity squad, Virgil Langrell and Dennis Middleton, who received 3rd at District.

Varsity Baseball Team Victorious In

John Cronen, Larry Simonsen, Randy Heater, Pete Niemi, and Coach Ross Putnam.

Although the Astoria varsity baseball team completed its season with a 11-13 record, the Fishermen came up with victories in their last six games of the season. Coach Ross Putnam explained that the reason for this winning streak was the fact that "as the team gained experience they showed good fielding and good hitting at key times."

"We were close in all of the games," remarked Putnam, "but lost because of inexperience." The Fishermen were defeated in eight of their games by only one run.

Finishing sixth place in the Metro league, the Astorians were led by pitcher Cliff Fick, who, according to Coach Putnam, had "varied speed and kept the batters off." Leading batter for Astoria was first baseman Mike Springer with a .286 batting average. Both of these players received Metro All-Star recognition.

J. V. Baseball Plays First Metro Season

Unknown Astoria runner slides into home in an attempt to score a run against Rex Putnam.

The J.V. baseball team, playing its first season in Metro League competition, had a rather poor season with no wins and ten losses. This can be partly accounted for since nine out of the eighteen team members were freshmen, while the larger teams of their opponents were comprised entirely of sophomores and juniors.

Outstanding players of the team were John Flood, who batted .450, and Russ McCollister, who was a good all-around catching, hitting, and pitching player.

The team was coached by both Mr. Charles Sarin and Mr. Vince Dulchich.

Rod Severson, Astoria batter, gets set to hit a pitched ball.

Metro League Title

The Astoria varsity golf team had its best season in school history as it shared the Metro League title and placed third at the district meet. Sharing the league honors with David Douglas, the Fishermen finished the season with a 9-1 league record, and a 20-3 season mark.

Coach Evans added, "Our golf program is not designed for Metro League competition only, but for the promotion of a very enjoyable future pastime."

This year's track team, coached by Ronald Ricketts and Larry Johnson, had a building season with three wins and seven losses. Coach Ricketts stated that the team showed outstanding improvement throughout the tough season, and that they should have a good return since only five seniors are leaving.

Records were broken by several of the team members. Ken Orwick set a new low hurdle, of 26.1; Bill Monsen threw the javelin 189 feet, 8 inches; and Tod Tolan placed second in the 440 at district to give Astoria 8 points.

The freshmen also showed progress through the season. Record breakers were Bob Wheatley in the 100 at 10.85, the 220 at 24.7, the broad jump at 18 feet, 4 inches, and in the 880 with the relay team of Tim Tolan, John Kuppenbender and Jack Moore, who set a new record at 1:41.6. Jack Moore set a new 110 record with a run of 55.2.

The things AHS STUDENTS remember are . . . the roar of the crowd when the Fighting Fishermen turn an almost certain defeat into a victory . . . that unexpected "A" . . . the challenge of a difficult problem . . . that mad dash toward the bus just before it leaves . . . those stirring pep assemblies . . . looking forward to the ten minute break between second and third periods . . . the frenzy of election week . . . the sound of laughing voices . . . Homecoming week with its unforgettable events . . . trying to make it to class before the second bell rings . . . quiet periods of study in the library . . . the confusion of those first few days of school . . . and making lasting friendships.

Yet each student is an individual. Each has his problems, his ambitions and his dreams. Sometimes his goals seem too far away, too hard to reach. Even graduation is a long, long way off to a sophomore.

But then that long-awaited day arrives, when "Pomp and Circumstance" echo through the halls, and each senior steps onto the platform to receive his diploma. Then he realizes that high school has been a stepping-stone to more adult goals.

Class of '68

Plunging into the 1965-66 school year with our usual enthusiasm, we, the sophomores, soon settled down to work. Although the homework load became heavier, we still found time to participate in school activities.

We got the year off to a good start with our whole-hearted support of the Football Homecoming. Urging the team on to victory with colorful signs and plenty of school spirit, we won the Homecoming competition and were awarded the Homecoming trophy for 1965.

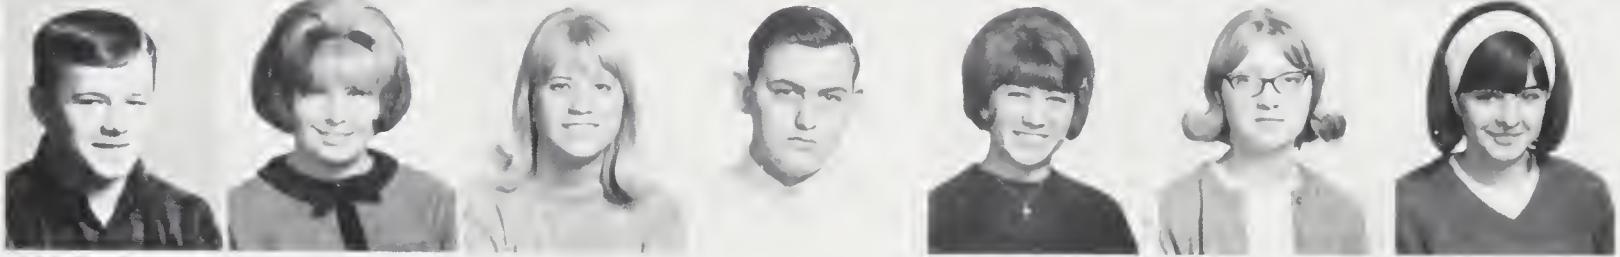

The next big event of the year was the Winter Festival. Entering into the fun with a will to win, we carried off first place again.

The Soph Hop had the unique theme of "Roust About Reno." Members of the student body were taken back to the days of the Wild West with its gambling casinos, complete with bartenders and gambling games.

During the course of the academic year we were introduced to many new things. Japanese haikus, dissections of frogs, Julius Caesar, history bibliographies, experimentation with "darling" baby chicks, scopes of history, and Silas Marner made the year an interesting one.

This has been an exciting and informative year, but we're looking forward to being upper classmen next year.

With a relaxing summer vacation behind us, we juniors started the year's activities by choosing our charming homecoming princess, Maria Rautio, and making plans to capture the homecoming trophy for the second time. But—something happened to our organization and we didn't quite make it. (Next year we plan to regain the trophy!)

We had fun during the Winter Festival, too, even though the final results for our class weren't the best.

Not to be outdone, however, we showed our school spirit by faithfully attending the games and winning yell competitions at the pep assemblies.

Our junior year brought a number of challenging new classes. U. S. history, chemistry, English III and advanced algebra kept us busily carting our books home and back.

Drama provided an opportunity for many to display their talents on stage.

Along with spring came the traditional Iowa tests. We especially enjoyed the double lunch periods which helped to compensate for the long hours spent concentrating on the tests.

Displaying our interests and capabilities in school government, we avidly plunged into election week. Next year as seniors we will have a chance to show our ability in a number of the top offices.

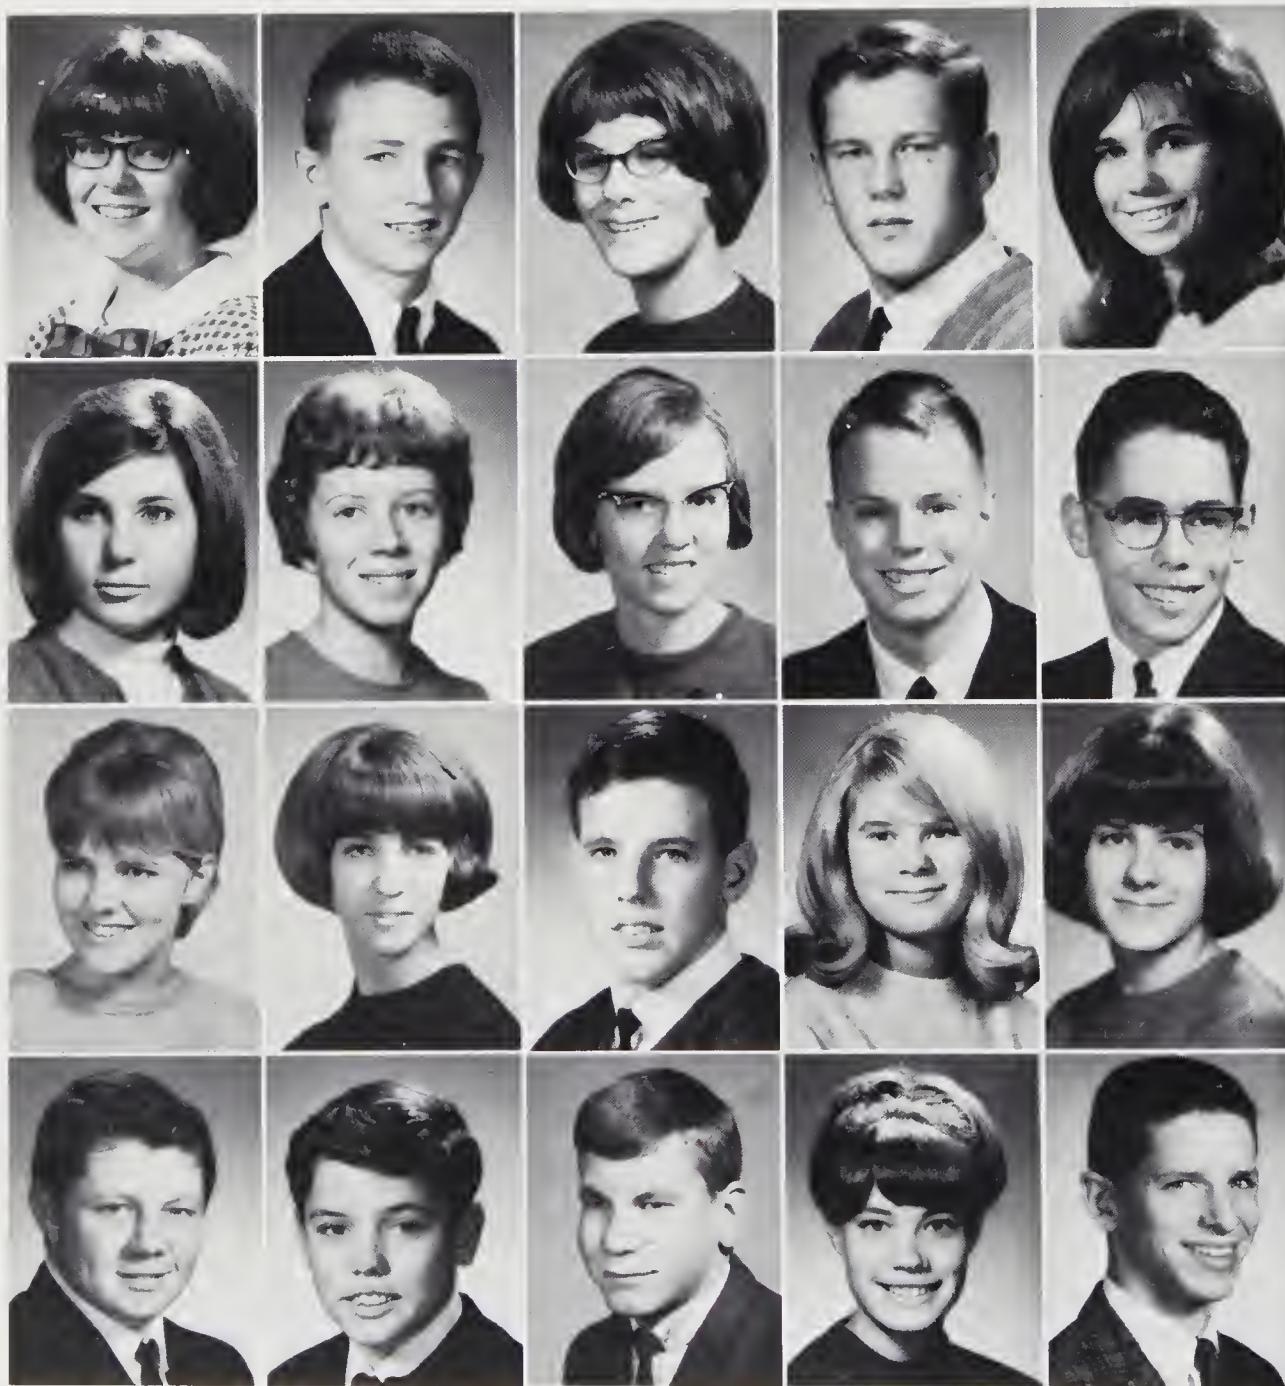

Out of crepe paper, kleenex, confusion, and anticipation, we created "An Evening in Shangri-La" for the Junior Prom.

We ended an eventful year in a traditional manner by decorating for Baccalaureate and serving at the tea afterwards.

With the coming of fall, 1962, we, the Class of '66, looked forward to our first year in high school. We met new friends, new teachers, and engaged in new activities. Now, we are old friends with all three, and as we prepare for graduation we stop for a moment to look back at our four years at AHS.

After our freshman year started with orientation, our first united effort as a class was Homecoming, when we took second place in class competition. We chose Jackie Singleton to represent us as princess. We also combined effort and talent to make our first class dance, "Carnival," a success. It was Iowa Test year, too.

As we moved into our sophomore year we became a more unified class. We chose Silvia Wirrkula as our princess and captured the coveted Homecoming trophy. This year we became active in AFS and raised $625 for it through a candy sale. We held our second class dance, "Playboy's Pad."

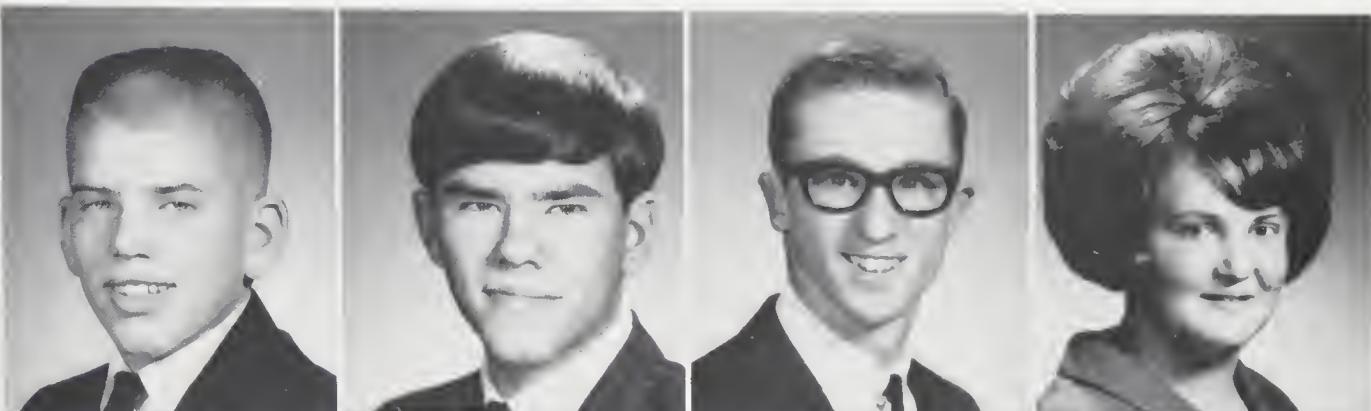

Our junior year started with the realization that half of our high school years lay behind us. We took our second Iowa Tests. Janice Lovvold was our third-year princess for Homecoming. We held our first formal dinner-dance, "Athens by Night."

Seniors at last! The mighty class of '66 set out to prove their worth by taking a close second in the Fall Homecoming competition. We were proud to have Linda Miller chosen as Homecoming queen and Jackie Singleton and Sue Raasina as senior princesses. With December, began the frantic schedule of college visitations, entrance examinations, scholarship applications and interviews, and Armed Forces Assemblies that would continue until the final weeks of our last year at AHS. January 8 was the date set for our final class-sponsored dance "Dante's Inferno," the Senior Ball. As June draws nearer, the libraries are jammed with seniors emptying the shelves of reference sources for term papers. Excitement mounts as results of scholarship and college admissions applications come in.

In the rush of finals week, class day, baccalaureate, and, at last, graduation, as we look back over our four years, we realize that they have passed all too soon.

During the Library Club's dance, Batman's Ball, R. Hickman, J. Singleton, C. Peterson, B. Gray, M. O'Bryant, A. Jordan, and G. Wood venture onto the Senior Lawn.

A hastily organized "German" band plays in uniform (lederhosen) before an appreciative audience at the A.F.S. dinner. They are (l. to r.) Doug Nopson, Tom Moberg, Loren Korff, Charles Clayton, and Peter Hobbing.

March 29, official A.F.S. Day at Astoria High School, saw the arrival of six foreign exchange students representing Europe and South America. Besides speaking to classes and sightseeing, the A.F.S.er's attended a dinner in the evening which was put on to raise funds to sponsor next year's exchange student to AHS.

Here, they are shown enjoying an organ piece played by Shelby Day, A.F.S. committee chairman, at the after-dinner party held at her home. They are (l. to r.) M. Tabink (Netherlands), A. Marc (France), S. Day, B. Watt (Chile), D. Seghezzi (Argentina), and S. Moreira (Brazil).

One of the most important committees of student government is A.F.S., whose main purpose is to raise funds to bring foreign students to Astoria and to send students abroad.

This year's projects included the newly conceived idea of having an invitational dinner, which raised funds and created interest in the foreign exchange program.

American A.F.S. returnee from Germany Jane Lovell, collects contributions at the A.F.S. dinner.

To My Schoolmates and Teachers at AHS

To stay one year in America always is a wonderful experience for students from foreign countries, but I can say that my experiences would have not been half as great had I not attended such a school as Astoria High. I always will consider it an honor to have been an exchange student of your school. I was so glad to watch the Fishermen in such a successful basketball season as well as to enjoy all the other sports and to attend the other events such as dances, plays, and concerts.

Many things were different and unusual to me at the beginning, but, with your help, I very soon got used to and learned to appreciate them. I also was able to see the things in my own country from a new viewpoint and to recognize weak and strong points of both our nations. What, however, I consider to be most important are the similarities between American and German people—teenagers especially. They've the same interests and hobbies, etc. To promote a better understanding of our two nations will be my main concern after returning to Germany.

Thanks so much to you all. It has been so great to have met each of you. I hope some day you will visit my home in Germany and will enjoy it as much as I did your wonderful town.

Auf Wiedersehen!

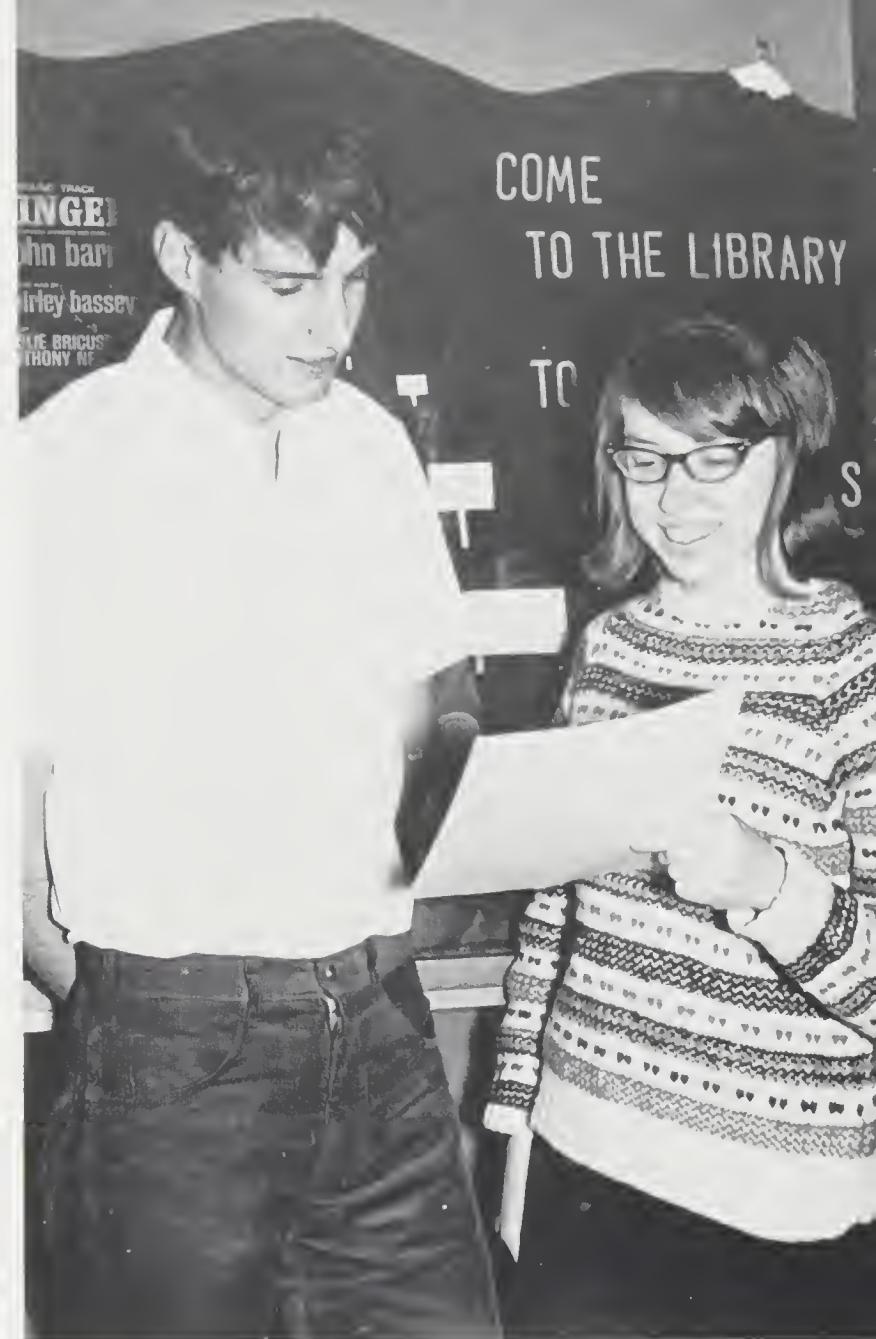

From your foreign exchange student who never will forget that terrific stay in Oregon in 1965-1966.

Auf Wiedersehen in Heidelberg, hoffentlich bald.

Peter Hobbing

Entertaining at the American Field Service fund-raising dinner, A.F.S. students Bernardo Watt (Chile), Matti Tabink (Netherlands), and Peter Hobbing sing a German folk song.

Peter Hobbing, Astoria's foreign exchange student from Germany, enjoys talking about the "fatherland" with Jane Lovell, Astoria's A.F.S. student to Germany last year.

Enjoying an evening with his American family is Peter Hobbing. His family has consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wood and their children Greg, John, and Julie.

Adult Personnel Render Essential

When not supervising the study hall or lunch periods, Mrs. Bue, student store manager, can be found assisting customers or ordering supplies. She is shown here with Mr. Foster and Mr. Sarin.

Mrs. Shank, study hall supervisor, outlines the study hall schedule for Mrs. Davis, a new member of the lay assistants.

Providing students with clean towels and uniforms are laundry helpers, Mr. and Mrs. Lay Jennings shown here surveying their "workshop."

Custodians Mr. John Nordgred and Mr. Harry Gilles mow the lawn as part of their duty in keeping the grounds as well as the buildings in good condition.

Services to AHS

Mrs. Phillips, AHS library assistant, works behind-the-scenes performing such tasks as checking books and magazines turned in during the day, checking shelves for order and neatness, and (as shown) typing cards for new books to go on the shelves.

Mrs. Alma Clarke (left) and Mrs. Dorothy Welfley, office secretaries, perform important functions that must be done every day to keep the school running smoothly. Besides their secretarial duties, they have the responsibility for taking attendance, reading and distributing the morning and afternoon announcements, supervising the office girls, and answering telephones.

A jovial group are the high school cooks (front row) Mrs. Pauline Kentrat, Mrs. Lemp Larson, Mrs. Phyllis Hicks, (back row) Mrs. Lenore Mart, Mrs. Jennie Nielson, Mrs. Ethel Alsbury, and Mrs. Elsie Niemi, head cook.

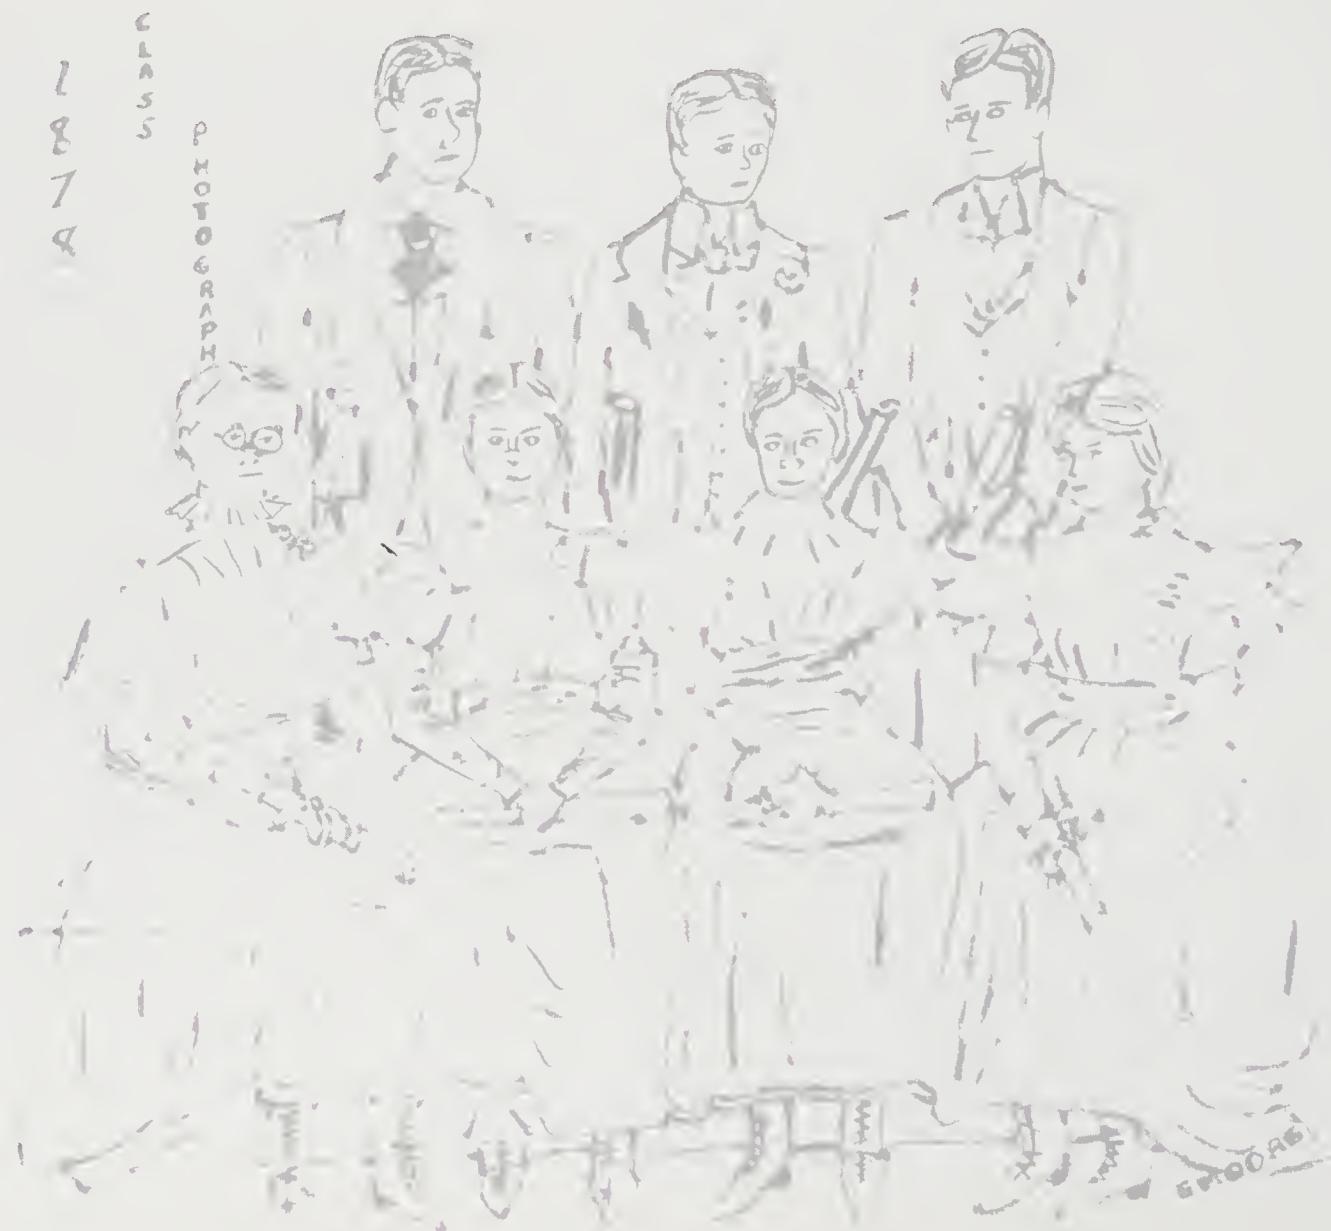

Always on schedule to provide students with transportation to and from school are district bus drivers Mr. Bob Hunt and Mr. Kenneth Landram.

As June approaches, thoughts turn to HONORS and graduation. Rushed seniors are suddenly conscious of nostalgic memories . . . measuring for caps and gowns . . . final exams amid the excitement of approaching graduation . . . awaiting results of scholarship applications . . . entering "honoraries" . . . banquets . . . awards assemblies . . . adding last minute touches to the annual graduation activities . . . being congratulated by envious juniors and fellow classmates . . . bidding misty farewells to the once-strange, now-familiar routines . . . realizing that graduation is not an end, but a beginning.

Months in advance of graduation many seniors are applying for college admissions, while others look forward to marriage, the Army, or other careers. Special recognition in specific fields of study is given to seniors through inductions into honoraries such as the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta, or Quill and Scroll, and through awards and honors received in the form of scholarship grants, which are valuable aids in their future education.

This year, those of the class of 1966 have joined the ranks of the several thousand seniors who have, since 1893, extended their hands for that all-important, long-awaited diploma—their reward for four years of academic achievement.

Mathematics Enthusiasts Honored

Officers of Mu Alpha Theta are Barbara Gray, secretary-treasurer; Rick Bjork, vice-president; and Greg Nance, president.

The AHS Chapter of Mu Alpha Theta, the national honorary society for outstanding mathematics students, was first chartered in 1958 with only eight members. Since that time membership has grown; twenty-four members were inducted this year.

Each year Mu Alpha Theta sponsors the National Math Contest in which students compete in their knowledge of mathematics.

New members of Mu Alpha Theta are (1st row, l. to r.) B. Moksness, S. Bedell, C. Peru, J. Stearns, K. Wheeler, C. Fearey, R. Hallaux, H. Burkhart; (2nd row) F. Parker, P. Persson, B. Jacob, J. Jacob-

Seventeen new members were inducted into Troupe 558 of The National Thespian Society at an informal induction ceremony held after the fall production.

After the spring production, five additional dramatists were initiated following a formal banquet. Also, officers for next year were elected.

Dramatically inclined students may gain life membership into the society by earning at least ten points from roles in the school productions. This year's Thespians earned points from their participation in "The Lottery," The Night of January Sixteenth, or Dirty Work at the Cross-roads.

Awarded Scholarship Grants

As the end of the school year comes, the tension mounts as the results of scholarship applications are revealed. Between calling home at noon and inquiring of exasperated mothers, "Did I get anything in the mail?" and responding to summons to the business office, many seniors can think of little else. They listen attentively to announcements over the intercom for information concerning deadlines for applications and interviews.

As educational costs increase, each year more scholarships are made available to qualified students. These scholarships make possible further education for students who otherwise would find it difficult to continue their schooling.

Winners of honors and awards at graduation are (front row, l. to r.) E. Timmerman, Readers' Digest Valedictorian Award; J. Dietrichs, Dads' Club of OSU Merit Award, Dads' Club of U of O Honors Scholar; L. Trent, Honors at Entrance OSU; (back row) C. Since the fall of 1956, when Astoria business firms were first solicited for sponsorships for the Zephyrus, the merchants of this town have loyally backed the high school yearbook.

This is not advertising but goodwill support. It makes the students feel that our town is interested in the high school and its activities.

To each of these businesses the Zephyrus staff wishes to say a sincere "Thank-You." We appreciate your backing and good will in behalf of the Astoria High yearbook.

Final Deadline

As a hectic year draws to a close, Zephyrus staff members breathe a sigh of relief. The final deadline has been met; the year's happenings, recorded.

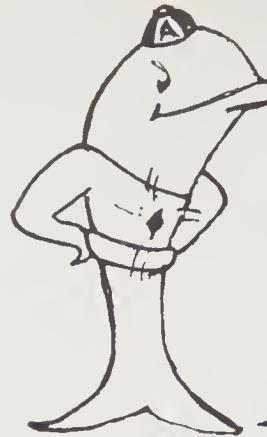

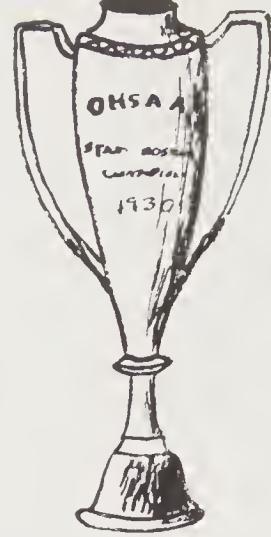

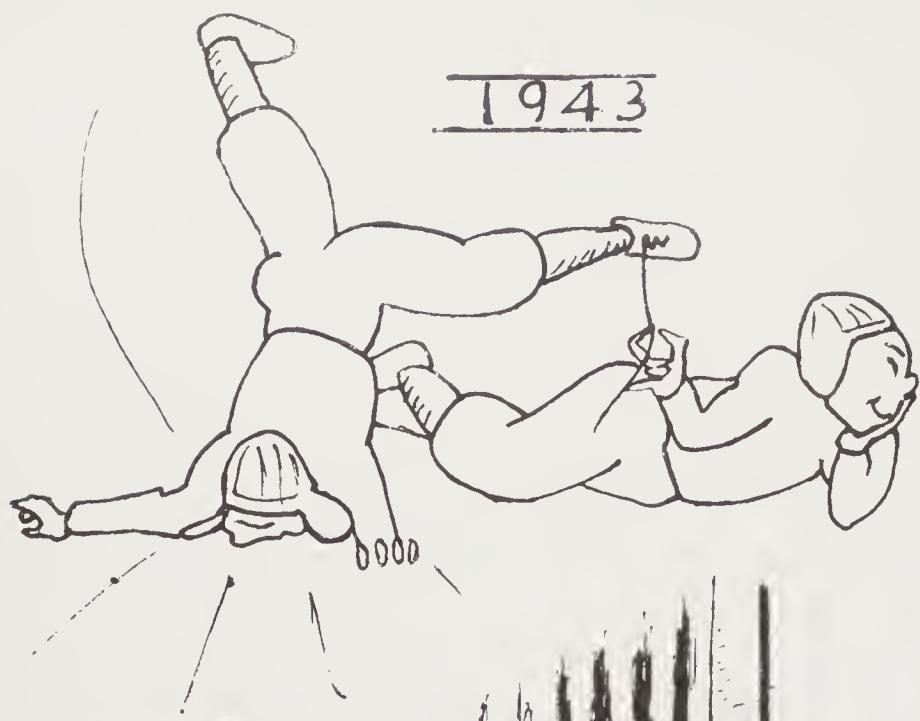

We the staff members would like to take this opportunity to express our gratitude to those who worked patiently with us throughout the year, keeping up with an increasingly heavy schedule as each deadline drew nearer. We would especially like to thank our photography adviser, Mr. Jensen; our staff adviser, Mrs. Christensen; and Mr. Ricketts, our business adviser, for spending hours of their free time helping to produce our book; and Mr. Jones, our Taylor yearbook representative (pictured here with the senior staff members), for his counseling. We would also like to express our appreciation to you, the students and faculty of AHS, for your support and cooperation.

We hope you enjoy reading the 1966 Zephyrus as much as we did producing it.
